SHERIFF EDWARD N. BONNER RELEASES THE FOLLOWING:

A Placer County Jail inmate made a brief run for freedom Tuesday afternoon but only made it out of the building and was captured in the parking lot.

Steven Matthew Brawn, 19, was making a court appearance at the jail courtroom when he bolted for the door. It appears that Brawn was not shackled and sheriff's officials are trying to determine why.

The bailiffs immediately put the call out on the radio and ran after Brawn, who later told deputies he fled because he "had the opportunity."

Brawn, who lived in Loomis prior to his August 1 arrest for robbery, was in court for a hearing to discuss his transfer to another facility. He will now be charged with one count of escape.
